TWO APPLICATIONS FOR LICENSE ARE WITHDRAWN

Avella and Manifold Men Unable to Withstand Fire

FIGHT AT FINLEYVILLE

Numerous Witnes es Heard For Both Sides in Battle Now Being Waged

At the license court yesterday all the hearings of retail applications were completed. These were the ones against which remonstrances had been filed and some hot fights were made both for and against granting the applications. Two of them could not stand the fire of the batteries against them and through their attorneys were withdrawn. These were the applications of J. E. Reeves of Avella and George H. Davis of Manifold.

The applications for license from Finleyville stirred up a hot fight. These were revoked some time ago and have never since been granted. It was shown that the majority of the male population living in that community were drinkers, and many of them objected to spending 30 cents going to and from Monongahela to quench their thirst. On the other hand witnesses were on hand a-plenty to aver that law and order were better observed with no license in the community.

All the river district applications against whom remonstrances had been filed had hard sledding, particularly those at West Brownsville and Millsboro that were refused last yer. Two applications in the Monongahela district, the Glen Elk and the Noble, were also vigorously opposed. Strong evidence was presented against the application at Marianna, in regard to order about the premises.

In one of the applications the attorney in charge offered to file a bond to maintain an officer to preserve order This the court refused to accept, saying that the Brooks law required good order from all to whom licenses were granted, and if that is not forthcoming the license can be revoked. During the hearings Judge Taylor took occasion to remark that a petition had been presented asking for a rule to close saloons on certain holidays. He said he would not make any such ruling as the court had no right to legislate It was there to administer the Brooks law without regard to sentiment for or against license.

The wholesalers and breweries against whom remonstrances have been filed will come up for a hearing and be completed today.

George Nutt has returned from the goverment yards at Lock No. 8 where he was for several days with the Slackwater and crew removing debris which had congested at the lock during the recent flood, and effectually stopped traffic. RESOLUTION AGAINST THE COMMISSION IDEA

Trades Council Thinks Proposed Form of Government Would Take Power From Hands of the People.

The Central Trades Council at its meeting held here last night adopted a resolution opposing the commission form of government, proposed for Pennsylvania, for the reason that, it is claimed, it would take the government from the hands of the people and put it in the hands of a few. The resolution will be circulated among trades unions of the State, and they will be asked to use their influence against the proposed bill

Another resolution was adopted that will also be circulated among trades unions asking that a bill be passed by the Legislature making it obligatory on the part of a strike-bound manufacturer when advertising for help to state that a strike is on.

MINISTER TELLS METHODS OF THE HIDING OF SIN

"Hding Sin" was the topic of Rev. F. A. Richard's sermon at the Methodist Episcopal church last night. He discussed the inclination of people to keep the civil laws, but beneath the cloak of personal dignity break the laws of a Higher Ruler. Among those things he mentioned as causing the breaking of these higher laws, was the desire for success as a mercenary people sees it, the desire for a great reputation reardless of character, and the lack of sufficiently high ideals. Laxity of course also has something to do with the breaking of God's law. A good sized congregation was present.

FAVORS BILL OF BENTLEY

John H. Bowers Thinks County Offices Should be on Salary Basis

WILL BE A CANDIDATE

John H. Bowers of Charleroi, who has informally announced as a Republican candiate for the nomination for county treasurer, is heartily in favor of Assemblymen Charles A. Bentley's bill to abolish the fee system and make all the county offices salaried offices. As an expression of his approval Mr. Bowers yesterday sent messeges to Assemblymen Bentley, Holland and Feeney, commending the bill and urging its passage. He expects to have something to say on this subject latter, which he hopes will be of interest to the public.

Considerable comment was made on the proposed bill, the concensus of opinion being in its favor. There is a general impression that the compensation of many of the county offices is exorbitant, and that a fair salary should be paid and the fees turned over to the county.

Where Women Count

In the State of Washington, where the women have recently been granted the right of elective franchise, they are demonstrating that they can work in municipal politics the same as the men. Unlike they latter, however, the women of the progressive Northwestern State will not "stand for" anything and everything like the men, when once the officials are elected. In Seattle, where they have the referendum and recall, the mayor of that city, following the usual political bent of a city executive, began running city affairs to conform to his political machine. This did not suit the women, and they exercised the right of recall. Telegraph dispatches this morning indicate that the vote of the women has recalled the mayor of Seattle, who is charged with misconduct.

Suppose we had the referendum and recall in Pennsylvania. and the women had the right to vote? Mayors, burgesses, councilmen school directors. and all elective officials would be somewhat leary about running things high-handed or indifferently, if they knew that they were likely to lose their jobs if they didn't make good. The recall is a most excellent institution, but along with it should come woman suffrage. Taxation without representation is just as reperehensive now as it was before the Revolution in this country.

A Social Scourge

The large list of divorce cases up for hearitg recently before our county courts once again calls attention to the growing social scourge that is so destructive to family life. In his sermon at the cathedral in Baltimore Sunday, Cardinal Gibbons spoke strongly against the evils of divorce, saying in part:

"If Christianity is the highest type of civilization—who can deny it?—then is it not true that we are retrograding instead of advancing on certain lines?

"There is a social scourge more blighting and more destructive of family than Mormonism. It is the fearfully increasing number of divorce mills throughout the United States. These mills, like the mills of the gods, are slowly but surely grinding to powder the domestic altars of the nation. Husband and wife are seperated on the most flimsy pretexts. And as if the different States of the union were not sufficiently accommodating in this respect, one State has the unenviable distinction of granting a bill of divorce for the mere asking of it on the sole condition of a brief sojourn within her borders."

Speakers and writers have much to say these days about the domestic rights of women and men. What is necessary is due consideration of the duties and responsibilities of married life. When these are recognized and considered, the rights will take care of themselves. There can be no rights where there are no correspondihg obligations. As the great Catholic prelate says, "There are no rights against the law of God."

One egg firm says eggs form the cheapest diet nowadays. We actually didn't know it was quite as bad as that.

"Pig is Pig," wrote Ellis Parker Butler, but he doesn't care to style himself as anything but a clean man. In other words he won't have anything to do with flushing the streets.

Even a very religious man gets downright wicked and careless with his talk when the water company provokes.

Have you paid your gas bill yet? If you pay it now, you can save a few cents with which to buy eggs.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A reader of the "Picked up in Passing" column evidently obsessed by the idea that he is in the class of the comic Valentine composer, is responsible for the following The Mail refuses point blank to reveal who the poetically inclined personage is, neither is it ready to admit that he really has such a mussed countenance as he depicts in the following epic:

I am not handsome nor e'en refined
My hobby is to poetry inclined;
But between the lines and prose
You will find back of it a fellow
with a very large nose.

"The Jumper."

In one of the Charleroi hotel lobbies recently the question of courts and lawyers was being discussed, when a former resident of Jefferson county related a good story on the late United States Solicitor General George A. Jenks, whose home and practice was at Brookville, the county seat of Jefferson Both George A. Jenks and his elder brother William P. Jenks were attorneys of extraordinary ability, but George was accounted the most subtile and astute of the two. William P Jenks served one term as president judge of the Clarion Jefferson district. Once when he was on the bench his brother George defended the principal in a petty larceny a case. The prosecution had so strong case that in the midst of the defendant attorney's plea the court stopped the case and instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty. To his surprise and chagrin the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The jury was composed of men who were well acquainted with both the "Jenks boys," as they were called, and after the jury was discharged one of them was asked:

"How in the world could you bring in a verdict of not guilty in that case when the judge instructed you to find the defendant guilty?"

"Well" George says the fellow wasn't guilty, and we all know that George knows more law than Bill."

The late George A. Jenks United States solicitor General under President Cleveland's first administration, and was an attorney with a national reputation.

Her Evidence.

"I had a colored woman before me as a complaining witness," said a criminal court judge "She had a man held for trial by a city magistrate on the charge that he had attacked her with a pair of scissors. 'He mout' neah gouge mah eye out, jedge,' she said to me. 'Jes' come at me lak a lion, he did, a-roarin', suh. He poke me in de face wiv dem scissors, jedge, not once but for four or five times. He jes' cut up my face lak it was a yahd of ribbon, jedge. The magistrate what held him to dis heah court says he nevah did hear tell of no more dangerous man.'

"Well, I looked her over. She had a wide, smooth, yellow face that didn't have a mark on it. I told her to repeat her story, and she went all over it again, telling how the man had slashed her face with that pair of scissors.

"But, madam," I said, 'there isn't a mark on your face.'

"'Marks!' said she indignantly 'Marks! What I care for marks, lem me ask you dat? I got witnesses, I tell you.'"—New York Cor. Cincinnati Times-Star.

She Had Courage.

A self possessed young woman who knew no French strolled into one of the larger downtown cafes. She spoke to the waiter in that decisive tone which distinguishes the initiated and glanced over the French bill of fare with the nonchalant air of a Parisienne.

"I'll have," she began firmly as she plunged into the sea of French dishes—"I'll have—let me see. Oh, yes, I'll have some bisque tortoni, a sultana roll, pommes de terre and a little of that fromage. And, garcon, you might as well bring me a cup of coffee."

The waiter gasped. He started to speak, but the young woman froze him with one of those icy stares peculiar to the thoroughly sophisticated.

And the order arrived—two kinds of ices boiled potatoes and a piece of cheese. But she ate it as if she had been used to that sort of diet all her life.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Stories on Doctors.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle told several good stories of old fashioned practitioners he knew. There was one man, he said, who never used to wash out the half emptied bottles returned to him, but emptied them into one huge jar, from which he dispensed this mixture of medicines to his more obscure patients. "It is like grapeshot," he said; "one of them is sure to hit." There was another man who used to say, "When my patients are alive I don't know what is the matter with them and when they die I don't know whether they are dead." That was like the medical man who said to a lady whose husband he had been attending, "Madam, I have a very strong belief that your husband is dead, but if it is your wish I have no objection to a consultation."

Cute Little Girl.

One day while Katherine's mother was ill a cup of beef tea was prepared for her, but Katherine fancied it and drank almost all of it. Her father was about to scold her when her mother said:

"Never mind; it does me just as much good to see her drink it."

Shortly after this a dose of castor oil was prepared for Katherine, and she poured it into her doll's mouth.

"Why Katherine," said her astonished mother, "what did you do that for?"

"That's all right," Katherine replied, "it will do me just as much good if she drinks it."—Boston Herald.

The Danger of Criticism.

If you simply cannot help criticising at least be careful in selecting your victim.

A magazine editor to whom O. Henry had promised a story many times without delivering it sat down one day and wrote him thus:

"My Dear O. Henry—If I do not receive that story from you by noon today I am going to put on my No. 11 shoes and come down and kick you down your own stairs. I never fail to keep my promises."

Whereupon O. Henry replied:

"I, too, would keep my promises if I could do all my work with my feet."—Chicago Tribune.

The Battle of a Week.

The battle of a week was the great conflict at Tours in which Charles Martel overthrew the Saracens, A. D. 732. The members of the Saracen army are variously estimated at from 400,000 to 700,000, and the historians say that 375,000 were killed on the field. It is suspected that these figures are a gross exaggeration, but it is certain that few battles of history have been either so bloody or so decisive.

In the Mining Business.

"I think you said, Rastus, that you had a brother in the mining business in the west?"

"Yeh, boss, that's right."

"What kind of mining—gold mining, silver mining, copper mining?"

"No, sah, none o' those; calcimining."—Everybody's.

Carrolls Drug Store Offers a Remedy for Catarrah. The Medicine Costs Nothing If It Fails

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us or at last put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, a medicine from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his record.

We receive more good reports about Rexall Mucu Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Mucu-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Mucu-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to disinfect and cleanse the entire mucous membraneous tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membraneous tissues, to soothe the irritation and heal the soreness, stop the mucous discharge, build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the mucus-cells, aiding digestion and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrate with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings about a noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Mucu Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return you money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store. Carroll's Drug Store, 623 Fallowfield avenue.

The Uplift Movement.

When he left the house Saturday morning Burton yanked at the door as if he would pull it off its hinges When he couldn't open it he started to grumble until his wife came to his assistance.

"What'n blue blazes is the matter with this door?" he grumbled, giving it another powerful yank without being able to open it.

"The trouble with you, John, dear," the wife ventured, "is that you are always down on everything—down in the mouth, down on the world. Let me try it."

With a gentle tug upward on the knob she easily opened the door.

John was about to sputter out a sarcastic remark when the force of his wife's logic sank in his thick skull.

"I get it!" he exclaimed. "I get the lesson"

That afternoon when his wife visited his office she saw over his desk a little motto with the words, "Me For the Uplift."—Youngstown Telegram

The Silks of Samarkand.

The silks and velvets of Samarkand, long famous for the rainbow blending of their colors, have a season, exactly like fruits or garden truck, and can only be purchased at that particular time of the year. When the worms are ready for spinning they are all brought to the silk bazaar and sold. The silk is then spun and dyed, and all that is not used in the maker's family is exported in the form of cloth. Thus, unless you happen to be in Samarkand during the season, it is all but impossible to find any of the native silk for sale except in the form of ready made khalats, which are a sort of glorified dressing gown.—E. A. Powell in Everybody's.

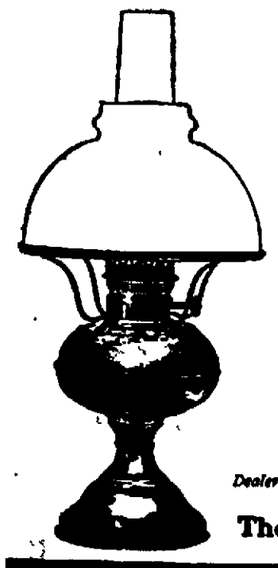
Does Not Strain the Eyes



Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

REFRIGERATOR CARS.

Evolution of the Idea of "an Icebox on Wheels."

The refrigerator car was never invented, but just "fixed up." It was the idea of a New England railway man who needed some such thing as far back as 1851.

In June of that year the first refrigerator car is said to have made its trip from Ogdensburg, N. Y., to Boston. The car owed its origin principally to the fact that the farmers near Ogdensburg, who made a great deal of butter, were unable to ship it except in cold weather.

A railroad man named Wilder, at that time in charge of the through freight, thought it would be a good idea to rig up "an icebox on wheels," and he told this to the president of the road, who gave orders that the master mechanic should plan several of them.

At this time farmers were receiving only 12 cents a pound for their butter. The iced car was loaded with eight tons of it, sent through and allowed to stand in Boston till the product was sold. It brought 17 cents a pound after paying all expenses and commissions, and the plan was voted a success. In a short time the road had a regular service on, using a number of cars, and the idea spread rapidly.

Wilder did not patent his idea, but allowed it to be used by whoever so desired.—St. Louis Republic.

ODD VOLUMES.

They Are Members of a Unique Dining Club In London.

One of the most unique dining clubs in London is that known as the Sette of Odd Volumes, which was founded in 1878 and meets once a month from October to June. It consists of twenty-one volumes, or members, that being the number of the volumes of the Variorium Shakespeare published in 1821. There are also twenty-one supplementary members, who succeed to full membership as vacancies occur. The twenty-one rules of the club include the following:

Any Odd Volume losing his temper and failing to recover it shall be fined by the president the sum of 5 shillings.

Discussions about anthropology, religion and politics shall be put down by the president.

Any Odd Volume giving to another Odd Volume unasked advice shall be fined by the president.

No Odd Volume shall talk unasked on any subject he understands.

No Odd Volume's speech shall last longer than three minutes. If, however, the inspired Odd Volume has any more to say he may proceed until his voice is drowned in the general applause.

Volumes have to address each other as "Your Oddship."—Argonaut.

The Major's Tip.

When Major Banks was the best known figure around the race tracks of Cincinnati and the middle west he was extremely generous in tipping off his friends to "sure winners." One man who enjoyed his confidence and played the horses according to the major's advice lost all his ready money and finally succeeded in reducing himself to the point where he had to sell out his grocery business.

One afternoon, following the placing of his last ten dollar note as the major advised, he caught Banks by the arm and said tragically:

"Major, you've made me lose my last cent. I'm a pauper, and my wife and family are practically starving. I am now about to go down to the river and drown myself. It's all over for me."

"All right," answered Banks, "but in the event you change your mind meet me here at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. I think I'll have something good for you."—Exchange.

Kongo Tattooing.

In the Kongo colonies of Belgium both men and women are tattooed according to their status in society. A woman of high caste will have a design not unlike a zouave jacket worked upon her back, and it would seem that the native is as content with this mode of covering as if it were a substitute for clothing. By injecting the juice of certain herbs the scars left by the tattooing process retain a swollen appearance, giving the effect of bas-relief work. The thorns of the acacia are generally used as a needle, while a certain black clay is used as a coloring medium.

Classified.

Was there ever a better example of the witty and concise form of expression than the answer of the grim man who, when asked about the character of a neighbor, sententiously replied:

"Mister, I don't know very much about him, but my impression is he'd make a first class stranger."—Exchange.

Frigid.

Nell—That Miss Copleigh is an awfully cold sort of girl. Belle—Mercy, yes. Why, she's so frigid that wherever she goes on rainy days it snows.—Boston Transcript.

Irish Wit.

"I never give alms to a stranger," said old Shyster to a poor Irishwoman.

"Shure, then your honor will never relieve an angel," was the reply.—Judge.

Condemned Unheard.

From a notice in a Cornish church: "The preacher for next Sunday will be found hanging in the church porch on Saturday."—London Punch.

Cleanse the fountain if you would purify the streams.—Alcott.

Courtaut the Wolf.

Paris has forgotten the time when it used to go in terror of the wolves which carried off women and children from the streets and even raided the graveyards. At one time they became so mad with desire for human flesh that in a single week they devoured fourteen persons, all between Montmartre and the gate of St. Antoine. On the vigil of St. Martin (says Grace James in "Joan of Arc") there was hunted and taken a horrible wolf, "which it was said had done more and more cruelly, than many others put together. That day he was killed. He had no tail, and from that he was called Courtaut. There was as much talk about him as if he had been an outlaw of the woods or a cruel captain, and when he lived folk said to one another as they went forth to labor in the fields, 'Look out for Courtaut.' And on this day he was taken through Paris in a cart, dead, with his great jaws open, and all the people went to see, and they made holiday and rejoiced, because Courtaut could trouble them no more."

Rented Wedding Cakes.

There was something wrong with the cake, the baker said. It looked all right, and it smelled all right, but his artistic sense told him it would not taste all right.

"Then fix it up with an extra coat of icing and we will keep it for a renter," said the proprietor.

"Who in the world would rent a cake?" some one asked.

"Wedding parties," said he. "They want a big cake in the center of the table for show, but a cake of that size good enough for a wedding would cost more than they can afford to pay, so they order fine cake put up in individual boxes for the guests and use the bride's cake just as an ornament. They don't buy it; they rent it. Sometimes a cake is rented a dozen different times. After each wedding it is freshened up with a new coat of icing and looks as good as new for the next occasion. A good renter fetches about $3 a wedding."—New York Press.

Sarcastic Cabby.

A certain nobleman, who may be called Lord X., bears the reputation of being somewhat stingy in money matters. On a wet afternoon he hired a cab to take him to Victoria station. Arrived at the station, he handed the cabman a shilling and of course was met by the inevitable demand for an extra sixpence.

"Certainly not," said the other promptly. "You came the longest way as an excuse to extort money. Why didn't you go through St. James park?"

The cabman saw he had no chance and said sneeringly:

"Cos St. James' park is closed. That's why."

"Nonsense," said the other sternly.

"It's right, though," was the grave reply. "They say that Lord X. dropped a shilling coming across the park last evening, and the gates are closed until they find it."—London Tit-Bits.

Shut Her Up.

A young wife was continuously pestered by her mother-in-law about the way she was bringing up her firstborn babe. The young wife was intelligent and capable, and she was really doing very well with the baby. From her mother-in-law, however, she got nothing but sour advice, warnings and veiled abuse. One day the mother-in-law, looking fixedly at the mother with her baby on her lap, said angrily:

"A woman has no right to have a child if she doesn't know how to hold it."

"No, nor a tongue either," was the quiet reply.—Detroit Free Press.

Berlin.

"Berle," from which Berlin has caught her name, means uncultivated land. Slavonian Wends, the earliest settlers on the sandy plain, could make but little out of the soil. The population in 1832 was only 250,000. Less than forty years later it was 800,000, and now it runs into 2,000,000. The man who gave to Berlin its present form was Frederick II., but Frederick the Great and the Great Elector started the noble hobby of beautifying the wonderful city.

The Mantle of Charity.

The lady was making some remarks about the kind of clothing some other ladies at church had on.

"The finest garment a woman can wear," said her husband, "is the mantle of charity."

"Yes," she snapped, "and it is about the only dress, judging by the fuss they make over the bills, that some husbands want their wives to wear."

Sweden's "Church Boat."

The "church boat" is a popular institution in Sweden. It brings families to service from the farms around Lake Siljan to Leksand. The water route is the nearest and most convenient, and so the big boat goes from farm to farm along the shore picking up the churchgoers, who later return by the same route.—Wide World Magazine.

Counting the Cost.

"What's the cost of a marriage license?" asked a youth whose fancy had lightly turned to thoughts of connubial felicity.

"Well," answered his friend, "30 shillings down and your entire salary each week for the rest of your life!"—London Telegraph.

Where Time Doesn't Count.

A party of East Indian natives was found sitting in a row on the platform of a station after the train had left, and, being asked the reason of the men replied: "Oh, sahib, we waiting till the tickets are cheap."

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. J. G. Johnson, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

The Newspaper As A Salesman

The majority of retail store customers, before starting out on shopping forays, study the newspaper advertising. This habit is a great time saver.

The shopper escapes fruitless visits to many stores, and needless brothering clerks, by learning in advance where she is likely to find what she wants. She gives very little attention to the places that fail to inform her as to their offerings.

Many women, too, having become personally acquainted with the store people, dislike to enter their places of business unless they feel fairly sure of buying. They avoid this embrassment by learning in advance through the newspaper where they can probably supply their needs.

Thus it is that many sales are practically made before the buyer leaves her home. It has been proved over and over again, that the trade will pass stores with a main street location that fail to advertise, to hunt up poorly located shops on back streets that are well advertised. A merchant might as well close his shutters in business hours as fail to meet his competitors in the field where they are doing the heart of their business—the newspaper advertisment.

THE CHARLEROI MAIL

TWO APPLICATIONS FOR LICENSE ARE WITHDRAWN

Avella and Manifold Men Unable to Withstand Fire

FIGHT AT FINLEYVILLE

Numerous Witnesses Heard For Both Sides in Battle Now Being Waged

At the license court yesterday all the hearings of retail applications were completed. These were the ones against which remonstrances had been filed and some hot fights were made both for and against granting the applications. Two of them could not stand the fire of the batteries against them and through their attorneys were withdrawn. These were the applications of J. E. Reeves of Avella and George H. Davis of Manifold.

The applications for license from Finleyville stirred up a hot fight. These were revoked some time ago and have never since been granted. It was shown that the majority of the male population living in that community were drinkers, and many of them objected to spending 30 cents going to and from Monongahela to quench their thirst. On the other hand witnesses were on hand a-plenty to aver that law and order were better observed with no license in the community.

All the river district applications against whom remonstrances had been filed had hard sledding, particularly those at West Brownsville and Millsboro that were refused last yer. Two applications in the Monongahela district, the Glen Elk and the Noble, were also vigorously opposed. Strong evidence was presented against the application at Marianna, in regard to order about the premises.

In one of the applications the attorney in charge offered to file a bond to maintain an officer to preserve order This the court refused to accept, saying that the Brooks law required good order from all to whom licenses were granted, and if that is not forthcoming the license can be revoked. During the hearings Judge Taylor took occasion to remark that a petition had been presented asking for a rule to close saloons on certain holidays. He said he would not make any such ruling as the court had no right to legislate. It was here to administer the Brooks law without regard to sentiment for or against license.

The wholesalers and breweries against whom remonstrances have been filed will come up for a hearing and be completed today.

Much Interest in New County

Indications Are That Belle Vernon Meeting Will be Largely Attended

Much interest is being manifested in valley towns in the proposed new county movement, and the indications are that the meeting to be held in Belle Vernon on February 17 will be largely attended by delegations from various places. The meeting was arranged by the Civic League of Belle Vernon in order that definite plans can be made for carrying on the campaign. Charleroi business men and citizens are anticipating the meeting.

Page Morris, Dick and Cecil Tripplett, colored men charged with assaulting John Ferry at the Hotel Arthur night before last, were taken to jail this morning in default of bail to await action of the grand jury. Structure Washed Away by Flood Being Replaced by Another.

George Nutt has returned from the government yards at Lock No. 8 where he was for several days with the Slackwater and crew removing debris which had congested at the lock during the recent flood, and effectually stopped traffic. One boat was tied up above the lock. The valves were full of rubbish. The Slackwater is now at Lock No. 9 doing a similar work, that lock having been partly put out of commission by the flood. Other locks withstood the deluge.

RESOLUTION AGAINST THE COMMISSION IDEA

Trades Council Thinks Proposed Form of Government Would Take Power From Hands of the People.

The Central Trades Council at its meeting held here last night adopted a resolution opposing the commission form of government, proposed for Pennsylvania, for the reason that, it is claimed, it would take the government from the hands of the people and put it in the hands of a few. The resolution will be circulated among trades unions of the State, and they will be asked to use their influence against the proposed bill

Another resolution was adopted that will also be circulated among trades unions asking that a bill be passed by the Legislature making it obligatory on the part of a strike-bound manufacturer when advertising for help to state that a strike is on.

MINISTER TELLS METHODS OF THE HIDING OF SIN

"Hding Sin" was the topic of Rev. F. A. Richard's sermon at the Methodist Episcopal church last night. He discussed the inclination of people to keep the civil laws, but beneath the cloak of personal dignity break the laws of a Higher Ruler. Among those things he mentioned as causing the breaking of these higher laws, was the desire for success as a mercenary people sees it, the desire for a great reputation reardless of character, and the lack of sufficiently high ideals. Laxity of course also has something to do with the breaking of God's law. A good sized congregation was present.

FAVORS BILL OF BENTLEY

John H. Bowers Thinks County Offices Should be on Salary Basis

WILL BE A CANDIDATE

John H. Bowers of Charleroi, who has informally announced as a Republican candidate for the nomination for county treasurer, is heartily in favor of Assemblymen Charles A. Bentley's bill to abolish the fee system and make all the county offices salaried offices. As an expression of his approval Mr. Bowers yesterday sent messeges to Assemblymen Bentley, Holland and Feeney, commending the bill and urging its passage. He expects to have something to say on this subject latter, which he hopes will be of interest to the public.

Considerable comment was made on the proposed bill, the concensus of opinion being in its favor. There is a general impression that the compensation of many of the county offices is exorbitant, and that a fair salary should be paid and the fees turned over to the county.

Where Women Count

In the State of Washington, where the women have recently been granted the right of elective franchise, they are demonstrating that they can work in municipal politics the same as the men. Unlike they latter, however, the women of the progressive Northwestern State will not "stand for" anything and everything like the men, when once the officials are elected. In Seattle, where they have the referendum and recall, the mayor of that city, following the usual political bent of a city executive, began running city affairs to conform to his political machine. This did not suit the women, and they exercised the right of recall. Telegraph dispatches this morning indicate that the vote of the women has recalled the mayor of Seattle, who is charged with misconduct.

Suppose we had the referendum and recall in Pennsylvania, and the women had the right to vote? Mayors, burgesses, councilmen school directors, and all elective officials would be somewhat leary about running things high-handed or indifferently, if they knew that they were likely to lose their jobs if they didn't make good. The recall is a most excellent institution, but along with it should come woman suffrage. Taxation without representation is just as reperehensive now as it was before the Revolution in this country.

A Social Scourge

The large list of divorce cases up for hearing recently before our county courts once again calls attention to the growing social scourge that is so destructive to family life. In his sermon at the cathedral in Baltimore Sunday, Cardinal Gibbons spoke strongly against the evils of divorce, saying in part:

"If Christianity is the highest type of civilization—who can deny it?—then is it not true that we are retrograding instead of advancing on certain lines?

"There is a social scourge more blighting and more destructive of family than Mormonism. It is the fearfully increasing number of divorce mills throughout the United States. These mills, like the mills of the gods, are slowly but surely grinding to powder the domestic altars of the nation. Husband and wife are seperated on the most flimsy pretexts. And as if the different States of the union were not sufficiently accommodating in this respect, one State has the unenviable distinction of granting a bill of divorce for the mere asking of it on the sole condition of a brief sojourn within her borders."

Speakers and writers have much to say these days about the domestic rights of women and men. What is necessary is due consideration of the duties and responsibilities of married life. When these are recognized and considered, the rights will take care of themselves. There can be no rights where there are no corresponding obligations. As the great Catholic prelate says, "There are no rights against the law of God."

"Pig is Pig," wrote Ellis Parker Butler, but he doesn't care to style himself as anything but a clean man. In other words he won't have anything to do with flushing the streets.

Even a very religious man gets downright wicked and careless with his talk when the water company provokes.

Have you paid your gas bill yet? If you pay it now, you can save a few cents with which to buy eggs.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A reader of the "Picked up in Passing" column evidently obsessed by the idea that he is in the class of the comic Valentine composer, is responsible for the following. The Mail refuses point blank to reveal who the poetically inclined personage is, neither is it ready to admit that he really has such a mussed countenance as he depicts in the following epic:

I am not handsome nor e'en refined
My hobby is to poetry inclined;
But between the lines and prose
You will find back of it a fellow
with a very large nose.

"The Jumper."

In one of the Charleroi hotel lobbies recently the question of courts and lawyers was being discussed, when a former resident of Jefferson county related a good story on the late United States Solicitor General George A. Jenks, whose home and practice was at Brookville, the county seat of Jefferson. Both George A. Jenks and his elder brother William P. Jenks were attorneys of extraordinary ability, but George was accounted the most subtile and astute of the two. William P. Jenks served one term as president judge of the Clarion-Jefferson district. Once when he was on the bench his brother George defended the principal in a petty larceny case. The prosecution had so strong case that in the midst of the defendant attorney's plea the court stopped the case and instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty. To his surprise and chagrin the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The jury was composed of men who were well acquainted with both the "Jenks boys," as they were called, and after the jury was discharged one of them was asked:

"How in the world could you bring in a verdict of not guilty in that case when the judge instructed you to find the defendant guilty?"

"Well" George says the fellow wasn't guilty, and we all know that George knows more law than Bill."

The late George A. Jenks United States Solicitor General under President Cleveland's first administration, and was an attorney with a national reputation.

Her Evidence.

"I had a colored woman before me as a complaining witness," said a criminal court judge. "She had a man held for trial by a city magistrate on the charge that he had attacked her with a pair of scissors. 'He mout' neah gouge mah eye out, judge,' she said to me. 'Jes' come at me lak a lion, he did, a-roarin', suh. He poke me in de face wif dem scissors, jedge, not once, but for four or five times. He jes' cut up my face lak it was a yahd of ribbon, jedge. The magistrate what held him to dis heah court says he nevah did hear tell of no more dangerous man.'

"Well, I looked her over. She had a wide, smooth, yellow face that didn't have a mark on it. I told her to repeat her story, and she went all over it again, telling how the man had slashed her face with that pair of scissors.

"'But, madam,' I said, 'there isn't a mark on your face.'

"'Marks!' said she indignantly 'Marks! What I care for marks, lem me ask you dat? I got witnesses, I tell you.'"—New York Cor. Cincinnati Times-Star.

She Had Courage.

A self possessed young woman who knew no French strolled into one of the latest downtown cafes. She spoke to the waiter in that decisive tone which distinguishes the initiated and glanced over the French bill of fare with the nonchalant air of a Parisienne.

"I'll have," she began firmly as she plunged into the sea of French dishes—"I'll have—let me see. Oh, yes, I'll have some bisque tortoni, a suitana roll, pommes de terre and a little of that fromage. And, garcon, you might as well bring me a cup of coffee."

The waiter gasped. He started to speak, but the young woman froze him with one of those icy stares peculiar to the thoroughly sophisticated.

And the order arrived—two kinds of ices, boiled potatoes and a piece of cheese. But she ate it as if she had been used to that sort of diet all her life.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Stories on Doctors.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle told several good stories of old fashioned practitioners he knew. There was one man, he said, who never used to wash out the half emptied bottles returned to him, but emptied them into one huge jar, from which he dispensed this mixture of medicines to his more obscure patients. "It is like grapeshot," he said; "one of them is sure to hit." There was another man who used to say, "When my patients are alive I don't know what is the matter with them and when they die I don't know whether they are dead." That was like the medical man who said to a lady whose husband he had been attending, "Madam, I have a very strong belief that your husband is dead, but if it is your wish I have no objection to a consultation."

Cute Little Girl.

One day while Katherine's mother was ill a cup of beef tea was prepared for her, but Katherine fancied it and drank almost all of it. Her father was about to scold her when her mother said:

"Never mind; it does me just as much good to see her drink it."

Shortly after this a dose of castor oil was prepared for Katherine, and she poured it into her doll's mouth.

"Why Katherine," said her astonished mother, "what did you do that for?"

"That's all right," Katherine replied, "it will do me just as much good if she drinks it."—Boston Herald.

The Danger of Criticism.

If you simply cannot help criticising at least be careful in selecting your victim.

A magazine editor to whom O. Henry had promised a story many times without delivering it sat down one day and wrote him thus:

"My Dear O. Henry—If I do not receive that story from you by noon today I am going to put on my No. 11 shoes and come down and kick you down your own stairs. I never fail to keep my promises."

Whereupon O. Henry replied:

"I, too, would keep my promises if I could do all my work with my feet."—Chicago Tribune.

The Battle of a Week.

The battle of a week was the great conflict at Tours in which Charles Martel overthrew the Saracens, A. D. 732. The members of the Saracen army are variously estimated at from 400,000 to 700,000, and the historians say that 375,000 were killed on the field. It is suspected that these figures are a gross exaggeration, but it is certain that few battles of history have been either so bloody or so decisive.

In the Mining Business.

"I think you said, Rastus, that you had a brother in the mining business in the west?"

"Yeh, boss, that's right."

"What kind of mining—gold mining, silver mining, copper mining?"

"No, sah, none o' those; calcimining."—Everybody's.

30 YEARS OF SUCCESS

Carrolls Drug Store Offers a Remedy for Catarrah. The Medicine Costs Nothing If It Fails

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us or at last put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, a medicine from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his record.

We receive more good reports about Rexall Mucu Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Mucu-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Mucu-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to disinfect and cleanse the entire mucous membraneous tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membraneous tissues, to soothe the irritation and heal the soreness, stop the mucous discharge, build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the mucus-cells, aiding digestion and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrate with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings about a noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Mucu Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return you money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store, Carroll's Drug Store, 623 Fallowfield avenue.

NO MORE CATARRAH

Piper Bros. Has a Guarantee Cure That Has Stood the Test of Time

Catarrh cures come and catarrh cures go, but Hyomei continues to cure catarrh and abolish its disgusting symptms wherever civilization exists.

Every year the already enormous sales of this really scientific cure for catarrh grows greater and the present year will show all records broken.

If you buy a Hyomei outfit for $1.00 and hide it in a dark cupboard it won't cure your catarrh.

If you breathe it daily as directed it will cure your catarrh or it won't cost you a cent, ask Piper Bros.

If you have a hard rubber Hyomei inhaler somewhere around the house, get it out and start at once to forever rid yourself of catarrh.

Piper Bros. will sell you a bottle of Hyomei liquid, for only 50 cents; start to breathe it and notice how quickly it clears out the air passages and makes the entire head feel fine.

Hyomei used regularly will cure catarrh, coughs, cold bronchitis or sore throat. A complete outfit including a hard rubber pocket inhaler costs $1.00. No stomach dosing. Just breathe it. It kills the germs, soothes and heals the inflamed membrane.

The Uplift Movement.

When he left the house Saturday morning Burton yanked at the door as if he would pull it off its hinges. When he couldn't open it he started to grumble until his wife came to his assistance.

"What'n blue blazes is the matter with this door?" he grumbled, giving it another powerful yank without being able to open it.

"The trouble with you, John, dear," the wife ventured, "is that you are always down on everything—down in the mouth, down on the world. Let me try it."

With a gentle tug upward on the knob she easily opened the door.

John was about to sputter out a sarcastic remark when the force of his wife's logic sank in his thick skull.

"I get it!" he exclaimed. "I get the lesson."

That afternoon when his wife visited his office she saw over his desk a little motto with the words, "Me For the Uplift."—Youngstown Telegram

The Silks of Samarkand.

The silks and velvets of Samarkand, long famous for the rainbow blending of their colors, have a season, exactly like fruits or garden truck, and can only be purchased at that particular time of the year. When the worms are ready for spinning they are all brought to the silk bazaar and sold. The silk is then spun and dyed, and all that is not used in the maker's family is exported in the form of cloth. Thus, unless you happen to be in Samarkand during the season, it is all but impossible to find any of the native silk for sale except in the form of ready made khalats which are a sort of glorified dressing gown.—E. The Famous Rayo
Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

REFRIGERATOR CARS.

Evolution of the Idea of "an Icebox on Wheels."

The refrigerator car was never invented, but just "fixed up." It was the idea of a New England railway man who needed some such thing as far back as 1851.

In June of that year the first refrigerator car is said to have made its trip from Ogdensburg, N. Y., to Boston. The car owed its origin principally to the fact that the farmers near Ogdensburg, who made a great deal of butter, were unable to ship it except in cold weather.

A railroad man named Wilder, at that time in charge of the through freight, thought it would be a good idea to rig up "an icebox on wheels," and he told this to the president of the road, who gave orders that the master mechanic should plan several of them.

At this time farmers were receiving only 12 cents a pound for their butter. The iced car was loaded with eight tons of it, sent through and allowed to stand in Boston till the product was sold. It brought 17 cents a pound after paying all expenses and commissions, and the plan was voted a success. In a short time the road had a regular service on, using a number of cars, and the idea spread rapidly.

Wilder did not patent his idea, but allowed it to be used by whoever so desired.—St. Louis Republic.

ODD VOLUMES.

They Are Members of a Unique Dining Club in London.

One of the most unique dining clubs in London is that known as the Sette of Odd Volumes, which was founded in 1878 and meets once a month from October to June. It consists of twenty-one volumes, or members, that being the number of the volumes of the Variorium Shakespeare published in 1821. There are also twenty-one supplementary members, who succeed to full membership as vacancies occur. The twenty-one rules of the club include the following:

Any Odd Volume losing his temper and failing to recover it shall be fined by the president the sum of 5 shillings.

Discussions about anthropology, religion and politics shall be put down by the president.

Any Odd Volume giving to another Odd Volume unasked advice shall be fined by the president.

No Odd Volume shall talk unasked on any subject he understands.

No Odd Volume's speech shall last longer than three minutes. If, however, the inspired Odd Volume has any more to say he may proceed until his voice is drowned in the general applause.

Volumes have to address each other as "Your Oddship."—Argonaut.

The Major's Tip.

When Major Banks was the best known figure around the race tracks of Cincinnati and the middle west he was extremely generous in tipping off his friends to "sure winners." One man who enjoyed his confidence and played the horses according to the major's advice lost all his ready money and finally succeeded in reducing himself to the point where he had to sell out his grocery business.

One afternoon, following the placing of his last ten dollar note as the major advised, he caught Banks by the arm and said tragically:

"Major, you've made me lose my last cent. I'm a pauper, and my wife and family are practically starving. I am now about to go down to the river and drown myself. It's all over for me."

"All right," answered Banks, "but in the event you change your mind meet me here at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. I think I'll have something good for you."—Exchange.

Kongo Tattooing.

In the Kongo colonies of Belgium both men and women are tattooed according to their status in society. A woman of high caste will have a design not unlike a zouave jacket worked upon her back, and it would seem that the native is as content with this mode of covering as if it were a substitute for clothing. By injecting the juice of certain herbs the scars left by the tattooing process retain a swollen appearance, giving the effect of bas-relief work. The thorns of the acacia are generally used as a needle, while a certain black clay is used as a coloring medium.

Classified.

Was there ever a better example of the witty and concise form of expression than the answer of the grim man who, when asked about the character of a neighbor, sententiously replied:

"Mister, I don't know very much about him, but my impression is he'd make a first class stranger."—Exchange.

Frigid.

Nell—That Miss Copleigh is an awfully cold sort of girl. Belle—Mercy, yes. Why, she's so frigid that wherever she goes on rainy days it snows.—Boston Transcript.

Irish Wit.

"I never give alms to a stranger," said old Shyster to a poor Irishwoman.

"Shure, then, your honor will never relieve an angel," was the reply.—Judge.

Condemned Unheard.

From a notice in a Cornish church: "The preacher for next Sunday will be found hanging in the church porch on Saturday."—London Punch.

Cleanse the fountain if you would purify the streams.—Alcott.

Courtaut the Wolf.

Paris has forgotten the time when it used to go in terror of the wolves which carried off women and children from the streets and even raided the graveyards. At one time they became so mad with desire for human flesh that in a single week they devoured fourteen persons, all between Montmartre and the gate of St. Antoine. On the vigil of St. Martin (says Grace James in "Joan of Arc") there was hunted and taken a horrible wolf, "which it was said had done more and more cruelly, than many others put together. That day he was killed. He had no tail, and from that he was called Courtaut. There was as much talk about him as if he had been an outlaw of the woods or a cruel captain, and when he lived folk said to one another as they went forth to labor in the fields, 'Look out for Courtaut.' And on this day he was taken through Paris in a cart, dead, with his great jaws open, and all the people went to see, and they made holiday and rejoiced, because Courtaut could trouble them no more."

Rented Wedding Cakes.

There was something wrong with the cake, the baker said. It looked all right, and it smelled all right, but its artistic sense told him it would not taste all right.

"Then fix it up with an extra coat of icing and we will keep it for a renter," said the proprietor.

"Who in the world would rent a cake?" some one asked.

"Wedding parties," said he. "They want a big cake in the center of the table for show, but a cake of that size good enough for a wedding would cost more than they can afford to pay, so they order fine cake put up in individual boxes for the guests and use the bride's cake just as an ornament. They don't buy it; they rent it. Sometimes a cake is rented a dozen different times. After each wedding it is freshened up with a new coat of icing and looks as good as new for the next occasion. A good renter fetches about $3 a wedding."—New York Press.

Sarcastic Cabby.

A certain nobleman, who may be called Lord X., bears the reputation of being somewhat stingy in money matters. On a wet afternoon he hired a cab to take him to Victoria station. Arrived at the station, he handed the cabman a shilling and of course was met by the inevitable demand for an extra sixpence.

"Certainly not," said the other promptly. "You came the longest way as an excuse to extort money. Why didn't you go through St. James' park?"

The cabman saw he had no chance and said sneeringly:

"Cos St. James' park is closed. That's why."

"Nonsense," said the other sternly.

"It's right, though," was the grave reply. "They say that Lord X. dropped a shilling coming across the park last evening, and the gates are closed until they find it."—London Tit-Bits.

Shut Her Up.

A young wife was continuously pestered by her mother-in-law about the way she was bringing up her firstborn babe. The young wife was intelligent and capable, and she was really doing very well with the baby. From her mother-in-law, however, she got nothing but sour advice, warnings and veiled abuse. One day the mother-in-law, looking fixedly at the mother with her baby on her lap, said angrily:

"A woman has no right to have a child if she doesn't know how to hold it."

"No, nor a tongue either," was the quiet reply.—Detroit Free Press.

Berlin.

"Berle," from which Berlin has caught her name, means uncultivated land. Slavonian Wends, the earliest settlers on the sandy plain, could make but little out of the soil. The population in 1832 was only 250,000. Less than forty years later it was 800,000, and now it runs into 2,000,000. The man who gave to Berlin its present form was Frederick II., but Frederick the Great and the Great Elector started the noble hobby of beautifying the wonderful city.

The Mantle of Charity.

The lady was making some remarks about the kind of clothing some other ladies at church had on.

"The finest garment a woman can wear," said her husband, "is the mantle of charity."

"Yes," she snapped, "and it is about the only dress, judging by the fuss they make over the bills, that some husbands want their wives to wear."

Sweden's "Church Boat."

The "church boat" is a popular institution in Sweden. It brings families to service from the farms around Lake Siljan to Leksand. The water route is the nearest and most convenient, and so the big boat goes from farm to farm along the shore picking up the churchgoers, who later return by the same route.—Wide World Magazine.

Counting the Cost.

"What's the cost of a marriage license?" asked a youth whose fancy had lightly turned to thoughts of connubial felicity.

"Well," answered his friend, "20 shillings down and your entire salary each week for the rest of your life!"—London Telegraph.

Where Time Doesn't Count.

A party of East Indian natives was found sitting in a row on the platform of a station after the train had left, and, being asked the reason of the men replied: "Oh, sahib, waiting till the tickets are clear."

OWES HER HEALTH
To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. J. G. Johnson, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

The Newspaper As A Salesman

The majority of retail store customers, before starting out on shopping forays, study the newspaper advertising. This habit is a great time saver.

The shopper escapes fruitless visits to many stores, and needless brothering clerks, by learning in advance where she is likely to find what she wants. She gives very little attention to the places that fail to inform her as to their offerings.

Many women, too, having become personally acquainted with the store people, dislike to enter their places of business unless they feel fairly sure of buying. They avoid this embrassment by learning in advance through the newspaper where they can probably supply their needs.

Thus it is that many sales are practically made before the buyer leaves her home. It has been proved over and over again, that the trade will pass stores with a main street location that fail to advertise, to hunt up poorly located shops on back streets that are well advertised. A merchant might as well close his shutters in business hours as fail to meet his competitors in the field where they are doing the heart of their business—the newspaper advertisment.
